REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT AND DEVELOPMENT
IN AN EVOLVING SYSTEM OF TENURE IN ZIMBABWE, by K. Mushati Midlands State University

- Policy a pillar of an SDI.
- Reform and policy change.
- Defining tenure system
- Tenure and Real Estate

- Professional and tenure
- Tenure security and investment
CONTENTS

- Introduction
- Background to reform
- Nature of Real Estate
- Professional and Institutional Participation
- Effects of Reform and Emerging Patterns in Real Estate
- Conclusions
INTRODUCTION

- Global media attention
- Reactions by politicians and society
- Policy changes and ownership changes
- SDI
BACKGROUND TO REFORM

- The Land Reform Process
- The changes in policy
NATURE OF REAL ESTATE

- The Scope of Real Estate
- The meaning of government policy on real estate
  - Rural Real Estate
  - Urban Real Estate
PROFESSIONALS AND INSTITUTIONAL PARTICIPATION

- The Physical Planners
- The Land Surveyors
- Financial Institutions
- The Real Estate Practitioners
EFFECTS OF THE REFORM AND EMERGING PATTERN IN REAL ESTATE

- Temporal insecurity of Tenure
- Rise in Number of Real Estate Firms
- Rise in Activity in Cadastral Surveys
- The good old and the magnificent new
- The bad new neighbour
- The banks and selective availability
CONCLUSION

Urban versus Rural Real Estate
Funding of Professionals’ Contribution
Security of Tenure versus Funding
Role of Policy makers for successful implementation
Skewed distribution of real estate wealth
Encourage private sector participation
Monitoring of private developers by local authorities
Review of policies and implementation.
THE END

Thank you